Testimony by legendaryNATS on KitsuraNines

This will cover a timeline of events shows involvement with Nines, who was a friend but no longer.

Though we followed each other due to our mutual agreement that trans women are not women, we didn't really interact too much outside of likes and little bitty comments here and there on X. This was right before VTards was formed, the controversial Vtuber group that consisted of: AkemiKurai, KitsuraNines, Saturn_Senshi, Shir0wan, and Nachisu Miku. I mention giving some background on how I knew each member of that VTuber group.

After some time passed and the group dissipated, I was a moderator in Akemi's server and was on somewhat speaking terms with Nines and Saturn; that was when Akemi announced in her server that she was separating from Nines and Saturn and even warned some members to steer clear of them. I was very confused about this and requested a voice call with Nines and Saturn to hear their side of the story because I was only being told a very doctored and biased side from Akemi. After the VC, I found the truth from them and decided to step down as Akemis moderator. It wasn't until the night when Akemi decided to share Nine's past porn on the server (while I was asleep, or I would have tried to stop that), that I decided to cut ties with Akemi. My friendship with Nines and Saturn grew from there.

This is for context; this is not a document towards Akemi. I wanted to shed light on where Nines and my friendship and ultimate downfall came from.

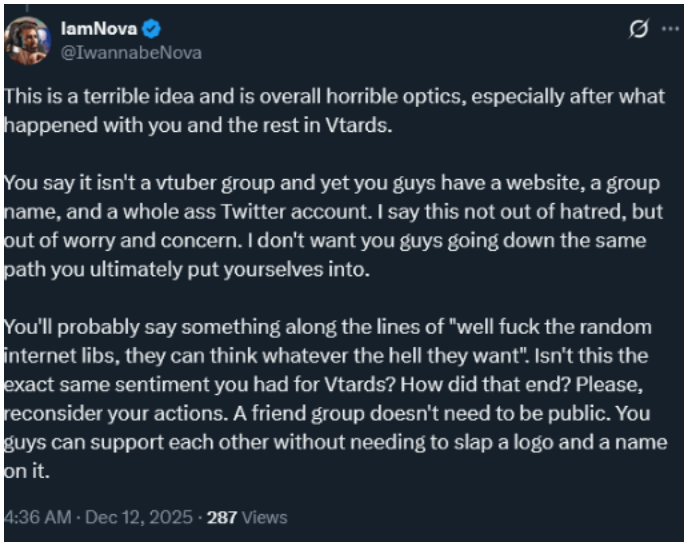
When the LuckyEN debacle happened, I was a moderator for both Nines and Saturn. I was brought into the drama because Akuma Miko, a former LuckyEN member, requested me to help with the whole ordeal. To which, a friendship began between some of Saturn's and Nines mods, Saturn, Nines, Nachisu Miku, Neevin, TheDonofEverything, Shir0wan, and Mokaruii. We all participated in building a document that was against the LuckyEN owner, RagingBull. To which, a group of us all worked together (my involvement was not as heavy other than providing details, support, and consultation) so that we could all help those whom we thought were our friends. When Akuma Miko and a few others from LuckyEN decided to make a 180 on us, we continued the document to not only expose RagingBull but to clear our names.

This is online drama, though, it doesn't matter how much proof you bring, people will perceive what they want to.

Our group decided to just make a friend "group", and I put the word "group" in quotations for a reason, because this will come back up. This group was called VDawgs, and it consisted of the following friends, not members: KitsuraNines, Saturn_Senshi, Shir0wan, TheDonofEverything, Mokaruii, Neevin, and Nachisu Miku. Vdawgs was not a VTuber "group" like a corporation, but just a friend circle, and we all just wanted to support each other. We built a website, everyone sent in artwork (Nines and Shir0wan are included in this), and all of us spent hours in VCs, all discussing this project. We were all having a legitimately fun time. When the website was launched, it was where the tone completely shifted.

After the website was launched, we all celebrated in our group chat, Nines included and we were all planning on watching the Game Awards together. Nines came in and mentioned that her boyfriend, fiancé now, joked with her and stated, "You are in another group?" to which she responded to us with, "LMAO I had to explain to him that it wasn't". That's when something changed with her, and both she and Shiro wanted to make an announcement on X that Vdawgs was not a Vtuber group. Saturn even made a post herself along with TheDonofEverything. Nines also added the tagline in her name, "Indie Vtuber".

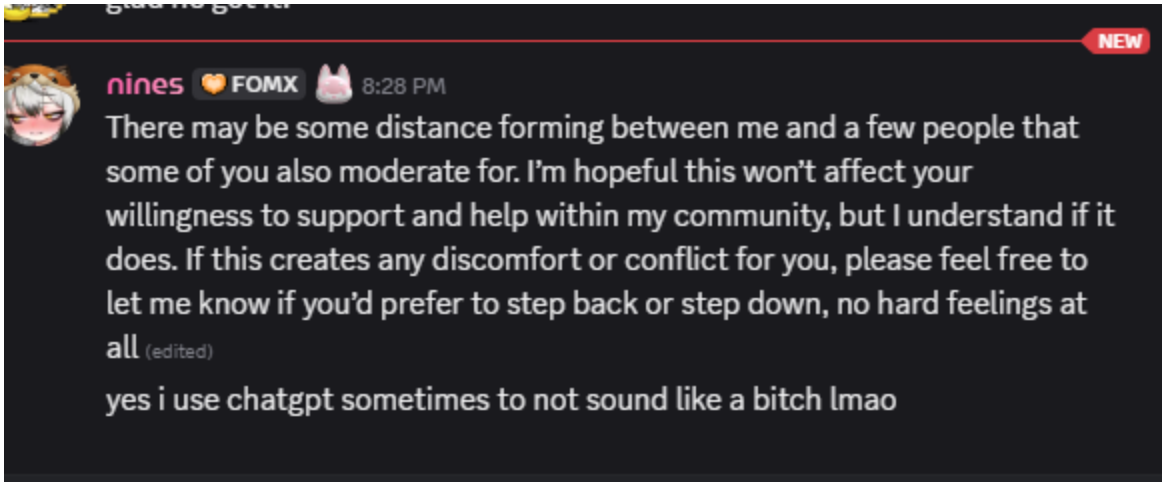
I should also mention here that the website was strictly for friends to have their socials and artwork collection there. The X account was just to announce when we were working on projects together or promoting when someone was going live. Very simple things, nothing else really big about it. We held a vote on the X account being made; the vote was 5 to 1 in favor of the X account being made. Neevin went and created the account, along with announcing VDawgs and the website. Nova, who is Nine's top moderator, commented underneath the first post, stating:



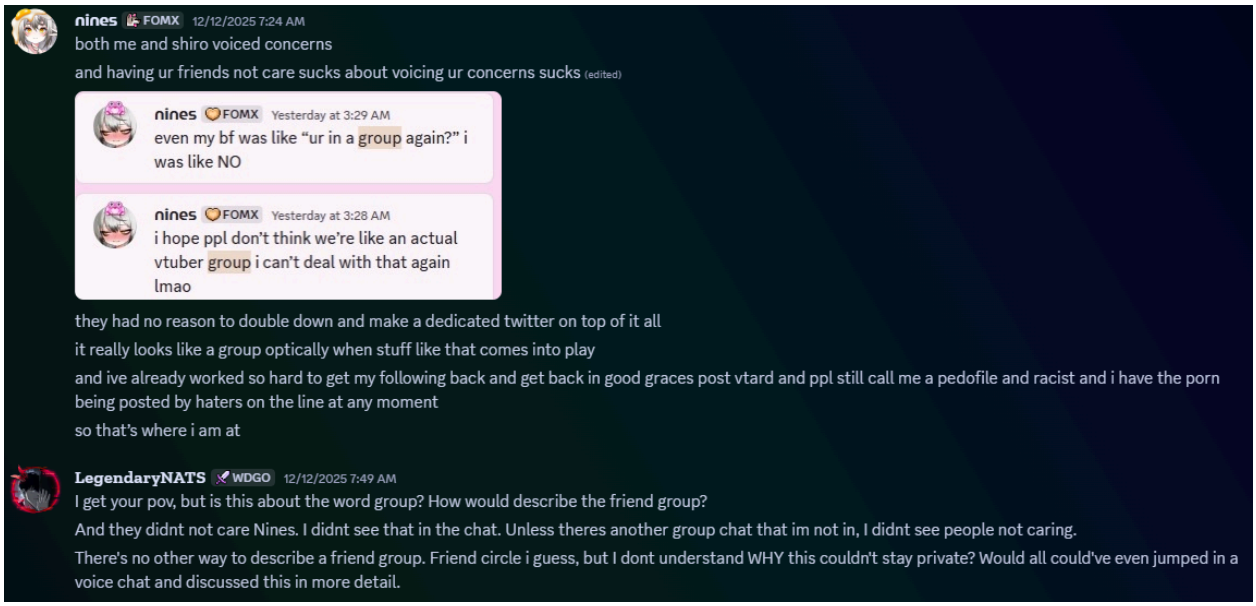
With this tweet, along with Nines boyfriend, is where Nines started to turn her point of view. Nines came in and started on how she was concerned about Kiwi Farms picking up on VDawgs and starting to make posts on it. When Kiwi Farms did pick up VDawgs, Nines brought it to our attention, we said we knew it would happen, and we stated, “they’re not that much of a concern”. That’s when Nines start going into panic mode. Along with this, she said this, “I have the most to lose over everyone in this group.” Shir0wan also came in saying that she was always against the idea of the friend group, despite her being in voice chats with us, sending artwork, and working on ideas for the website. She stated, “It will be problematic for me if they dig into my life.” Everyone tried to come together to encourage both Shir0wan and Nines that we were all a group here to support one another.

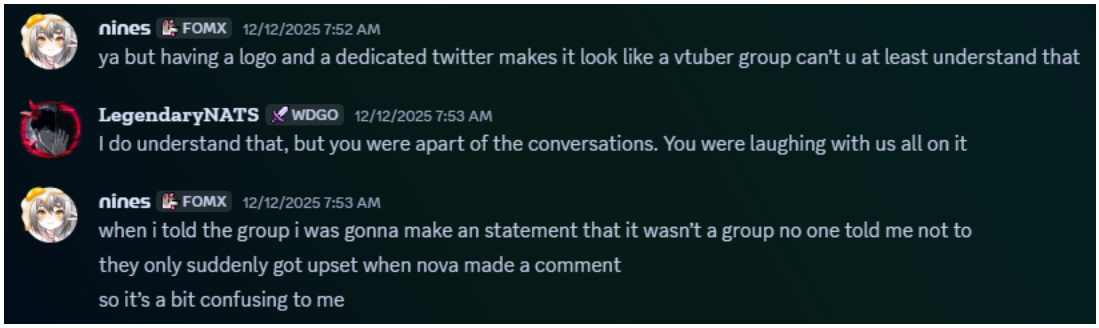
Now, we come back to the reason why the word “group” was an issue. For some reason, Nines and Shiro both made a focus on the word “group”, stating that it had a connotation of something corpo or vtuber group; to which we all asked, “What word would you prefer?” Even in the tag lines for both the website and X account, it stated “a group of friends just hanging out.” So, we didn’t know how else to better define it. Gaggle maybe? Neevin came in and saw what happened. She pointed out the childish behavior that Nines and Shiro were showing, on something that we were all a part of, and left the group.

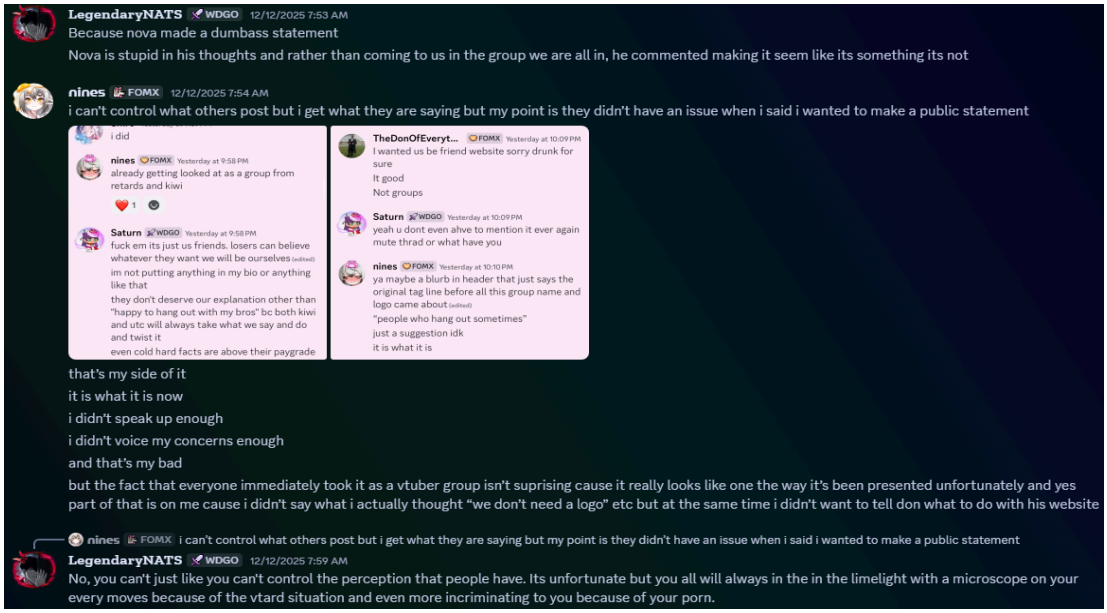
After Neevin left, a few of us were trying to understand what changed so rapidly after we were all together in this. This was when Nines made an announcement in her mod channel stating that she was separating from us:



Showing that she was planning to disconnect from her “friends” because we had a disagreement on the word “group”. She pushed this narrative that we took issue with her specific post, stating that V-Dawgs wasn’t a “group,” but none of us did, only that we took issue with Nova casting doubt rather than coming to us and talking to us, along with Nines voicing her concerns before the farms picked up on it. That was when she decided to have an issue:







As you can see in our exchange here, though I understood her POV, she wasn't willing to understand ours, nor was she willing to have an actual conversation. She only spoke a bit more in our group chat before bouncing out. This was something that I genuinely couldn't understand, and that may be on me here, but I believe I pointed out in good detail why we shouldn't allow the outside to dictate what we do, along with pointing out how she will always have a target on her back, along with the others, because of Vtards and LuckyEN drama. In our conversation, Nines even referred to me as a pseudo-dad figure in her life.

i know
i'm not trying to be aggressive or anything
LegendaryNATS WDGO 12/12/2025 8:10 AM
Youre just a fiery person lmao nines FOMX 12/12/2025 8:10 AM
i'm just a bit stressed out and over the dramas and shit and just want to move forward i guess
LegendaryNATS WDGO 12/12/2025 8:10 AM
I get it, trust me.
nines FOMX 12/12/2025 8:10 AM i just thought i'd dm u after seeing ur msg in the group chat
i won't be addressing it with the others
i'm going to just shut up about it and move forward
LegendaryNATS WDGO 12/12/2025 8:10 AM
I wont be addressing it either outside of what I mentioned.
nines FOMX 12/12/2025 8:12 AM anyway thanks for listening i appreciate you and ur advice and stuff always LegendaryNATS WDGO 12/12/2025 8:12 AM
Of course.

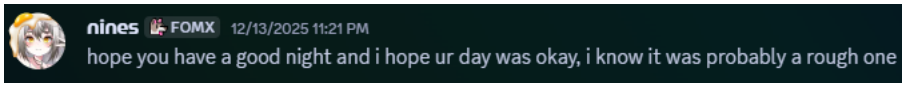
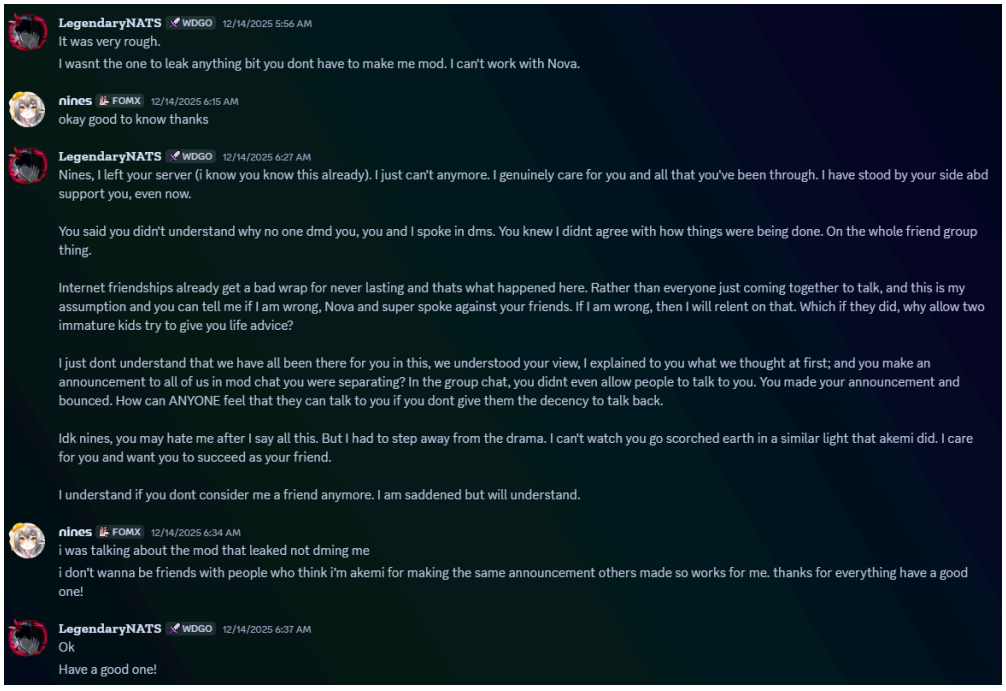
Ive had 6 people call me a father figure.
I just know what its like to go through a lot of this.
I dont share a lot of personal stuff but ive been through org stuff, I have been drug through the mud over and over irl, ive been betrayed by people I thought who were my deep friends, even my own mom (though thats going mu h better). So I want to help people, especially my friends.
nines FOMX 12/12/2025 8:19 AM
i'm sorry, it's sad how it happens to all of us somehow in life it seems

This next section is going to be the last on my part. Nines went dormant for a day due to personal reasons. Along with this, I was in the middle of taking care of a funeral due to someone passing away in my church. So, I was out of pocket all day. During this time, Nines made that post about separating from the group to her mod chat. This was when 6 of her mods shared that same announcement to TheDonofEverything (if you remember, Nines called him out 1/26 because he claimed due to him being a deacon, he couldn't share their names, but to us, he shared to us in our chat.)

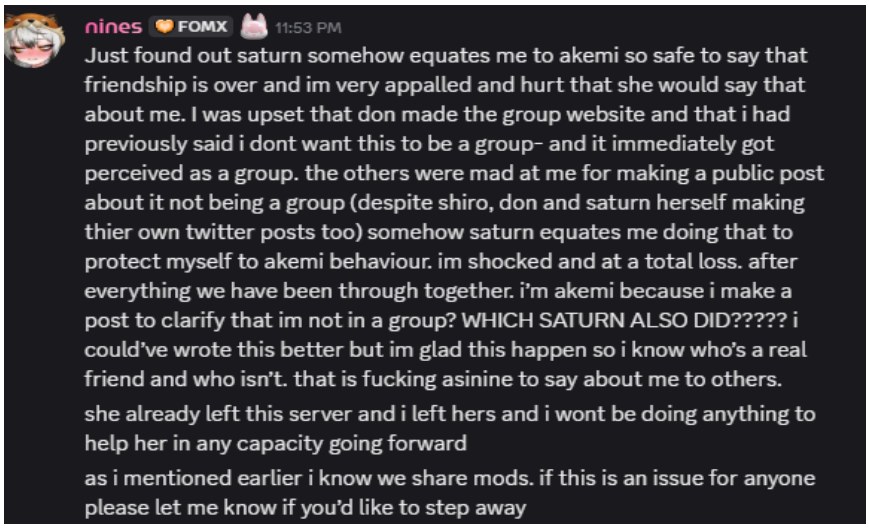
I went to sleep that night and woke up the next morning to 7 messages from Nines and noticed that I was no longer a moderator in her server. Mind you, I was not one of the mods who shared the announcement. When I went to check my messages, I only had one, to which I was thankful for.



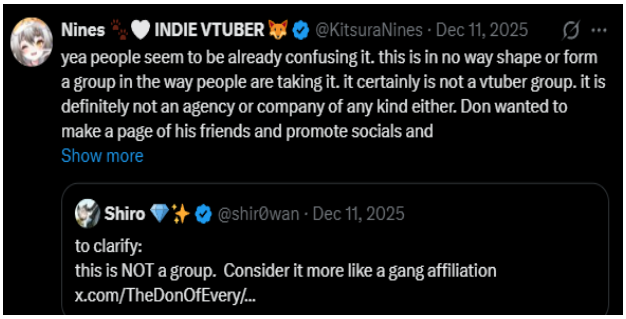
Then, after I noticed she went scorched earth, taking all her mod rights away from everyone but her two top mods (to which I don't blame her because of it being leaked from her mod chat but the steps she was taking was very much in the same light as Akemi constantly going nuclear when something happened. Mind you, I understand the drama stuff was overwhelming and way too much, I was there with her but didn't have the same target on my back. I acknowledge that I have nothing to lose from this because I am not looking to be a VTuber or content creator full-time. I was concerned for her completely and wanted her to see the steps she was taking.



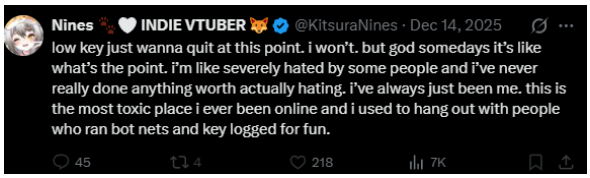
This all spiraled out into this insane campaign from Nines to attack everyone who stayed with Saturn rather than choosing her. On 12/15/2025, Nines decided to make an announcement in her discord trying to claim Saturn called her Akemi, to which she didn't, she used similar words to me.

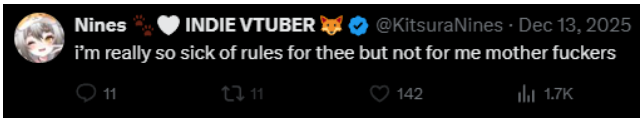


She kept pointing to the "clarification" post, which everyone had taken issue with, when none of us cared that she clarified it. We were all understanding that we constantly told her we were understanding and supported that. Saturn made her own post.



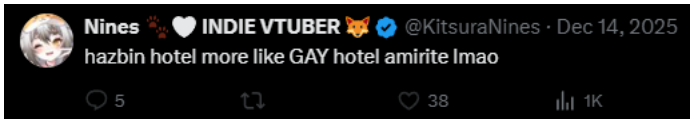
It was strictly on the fact that Nines lives in a constant vicious cycle of victimhood. This was when all the vague postings started on 12/13, before everything really blew up on 12/15.



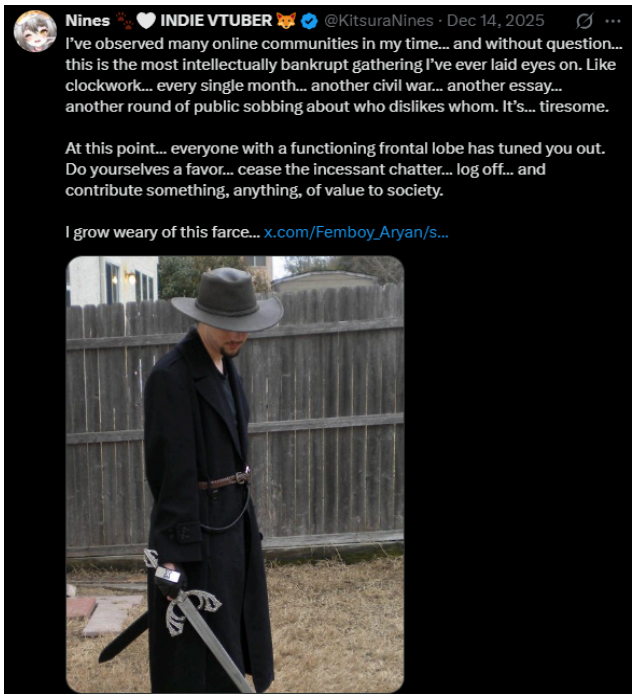


*the scorched earth comment was in reference to my comment to her

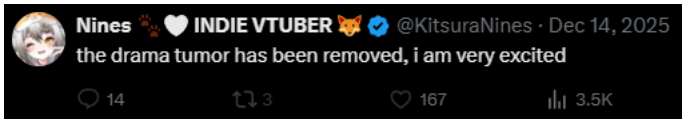
*The problem was that she didn't keep it silent. Rather than being an adult and coming to talk it out, she decided to vague post or drop people when we did try to talk to her because we went against her grain.



*This was a hit at Saturn because of how much she loves the show.

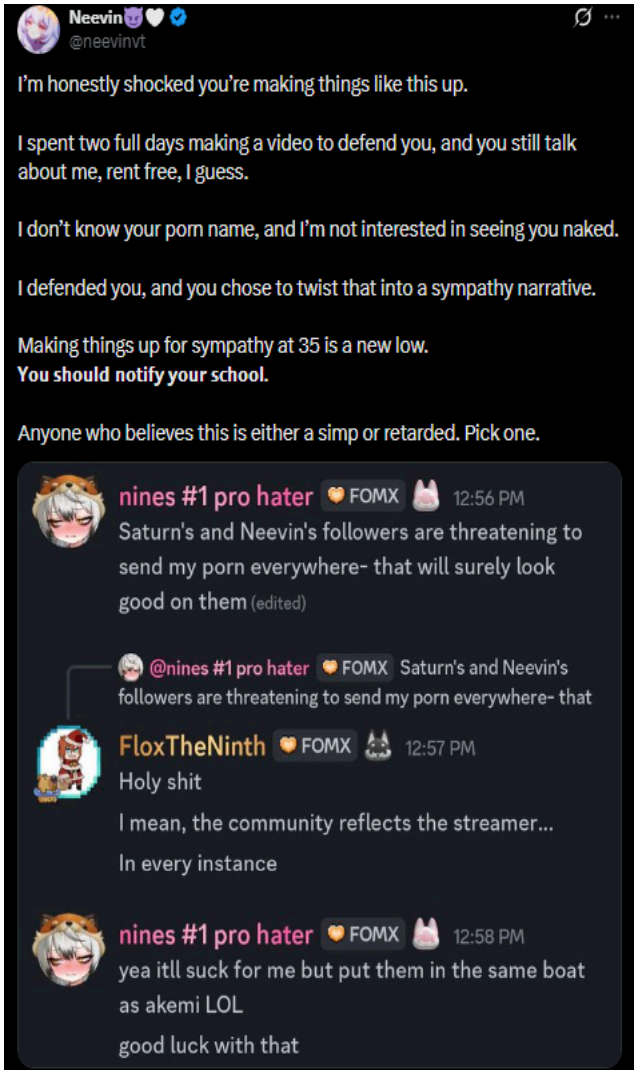


*ironic actually because the next day, she does this.

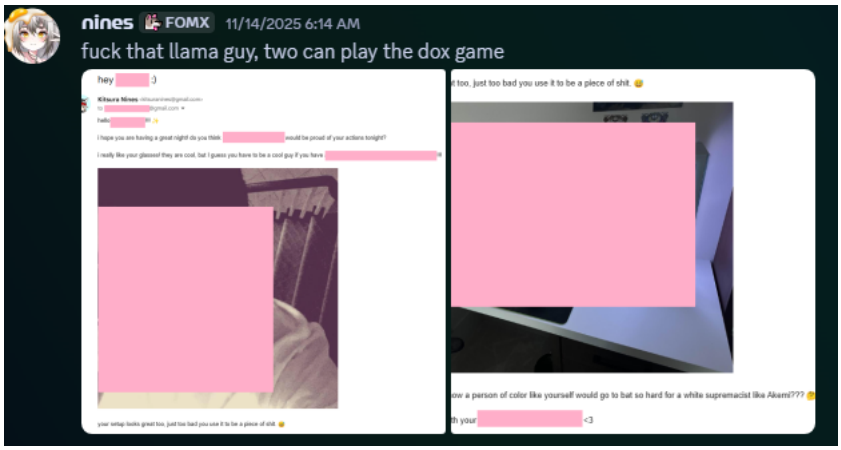


*This was right after a called between Nines, Saturn, TheDonofEverything, and Nachisu Miku, where Nines spent almost the entire close to 2 hours just yelling at Saturn.

Then we have 12/15, where Nines decides to start accusing Saturn and Neevin of sending her community members to attack Nines by threatening to share her porn by two obviously fake emails. Not that she didn't receive them, but that these were clearly fakes to either screw around with her or that she created herself to villainize them. I should preface this, Nines informed us that she is good at digging up dirt and knew how to find the dox people if she needed to; one of her ex-boyfriends taught her how to do so. One of the bits of information that she shared was that you would know when they are "fake" or "troll" emails is when they use either Outlook or Hotmail email addresses.

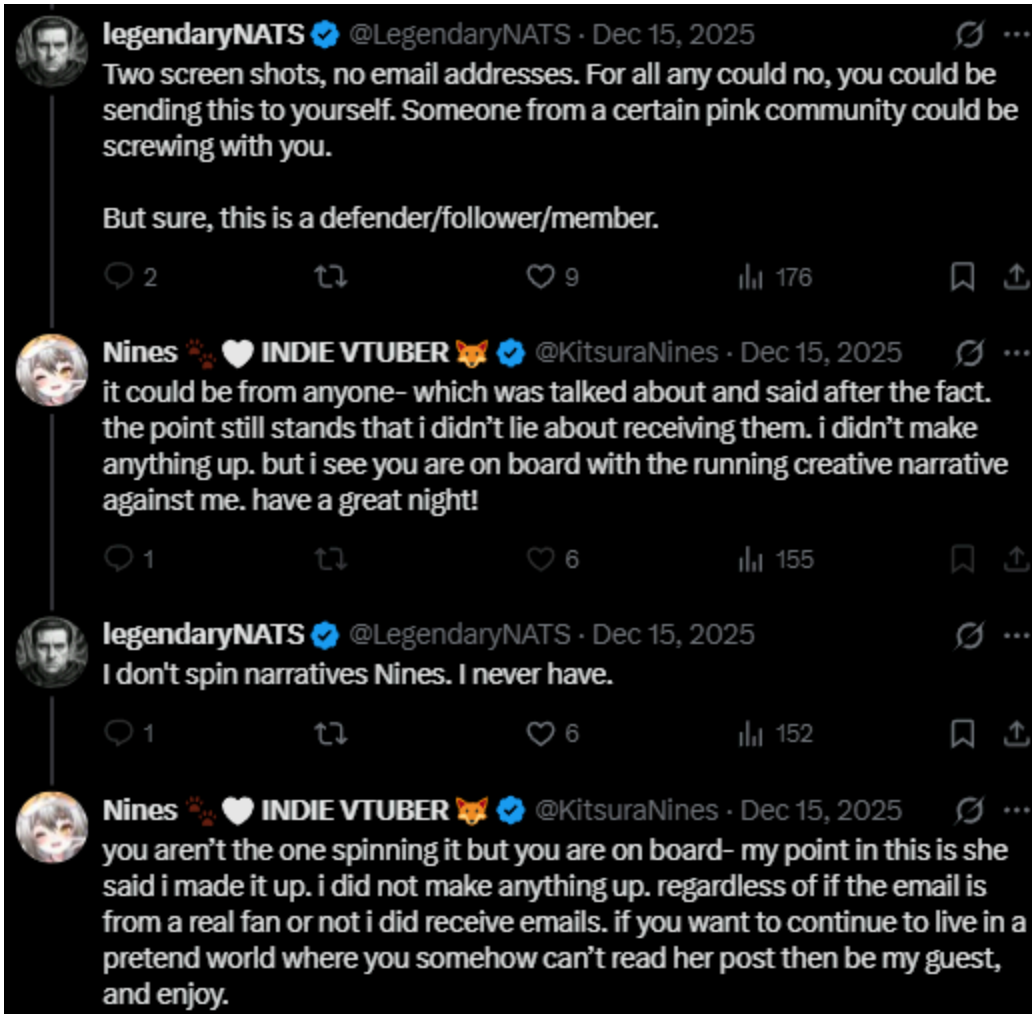


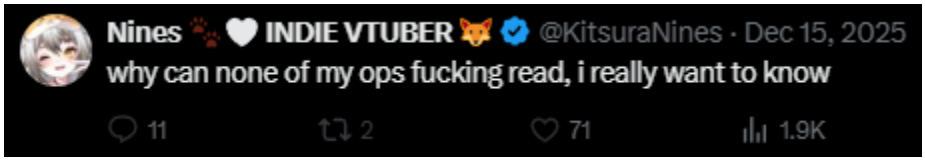
Last time, when Akemi and her community posted her porn, one of Akemi's community members was doxed by her by showing his email, name, and so on.



So it didn’t make any sense that these individuals who threatened her with sharing her porn, she wasn’t willing to share their information. She accused Neevinss and Saturn's community of spreading this, as I posted above. Multiple people called her out on this, but this was my exchange with her on it:

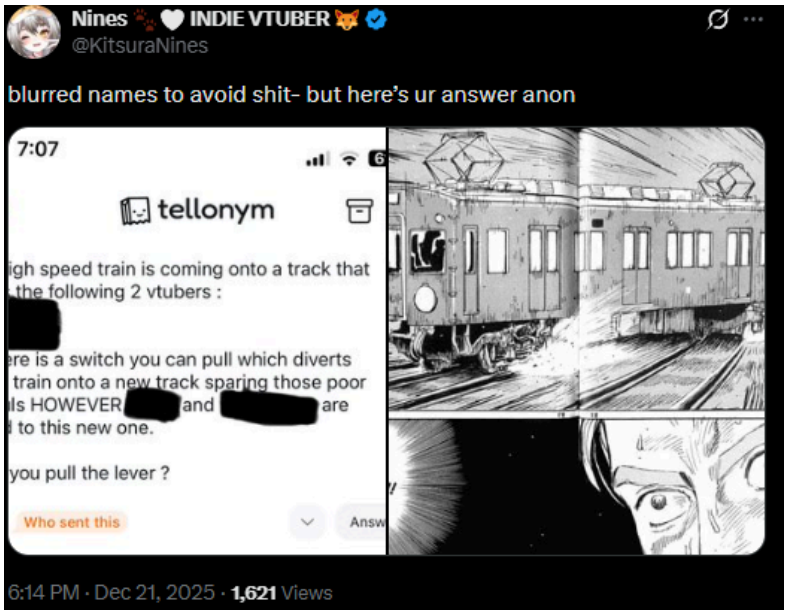
Her only response is something sarcastic. That is her crutch.

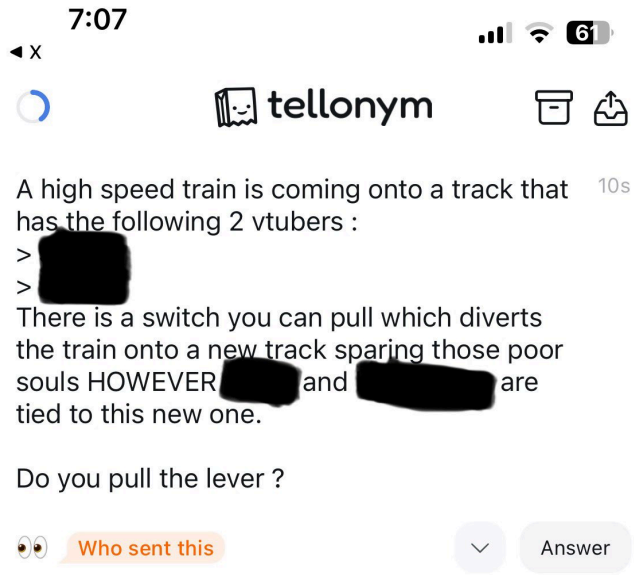




Which makes no sense, she claims that Neevin made a claim that Neevin never received emails, which is not what she said. She made a claim she never accused Saturn's and Neevin's communities of attacking her, proof was shown to her, and she just says something sarcastic and dismisses it.

After a few days of her receiving random tellonyms and one in particular caught my attention:





Now the names blacked out are:

VTubers- Saturn, Neevin

Poor Souls- unknown names

Now, you can say this is joking, and it very much may be, but as someone she has claimed to be her “ops”, I don’t really hold it in that regard. And on the blacked out names, I fully believe those names are myself (NATS, the short, blacked out name) and h0b0c0p (the longer name). If I am wrong, which I doubt I am, then I will fully remit that and apologize. Especially after everything that we did for her. Fighting for her when her porn was shared, we fought against Akemi's community to the point where Akemi actually went and sought help. But, because we didn't agree with her, she then turned her attention to others and claimed this about us:

All for those same people to turn on her as well because they couldn't get her to change her views and follow their gain. Mind you, I agree with that because the others were truly demented ones.

My Final thoughts

I was "friends" with KitsuraNines since last year, or so I thought. I thought I could disagree with her. The ability to bring grievances to her, but I was proven wrong on this. She decided to drop us for her own benefit, betraying our trust by recording every single VC we were all on, wishing even death on my friends and me. I told her she was invited to my table any time, which I don't do. I introduced her to my wife because I thought we were friends. It genuinely hurt seeing this from her, and it's been almost 3 months, and she still screams her victimhood for all to hear. She still tries to capitalize on her most "traumatic" moment of her life by bringing it up every chance she gets to force toxic empathy on others.

Nines, I know you will read this when it's released. Want to know why? Because your narcissism is way too strong. You will dismiss it and cry even harder as the "victim" that you are, but I'm sorry, it has been declined.
